Page 10 Page 12 1 Sure. My name is Anupam Jena. 1 O. Three times. 2 A-N-U-P-A-M, last name is Jena, J-E-N-A. When was the most recent time 3 All right. And you've just that you were deposed? been administered the oath, so you understand 4 The most recent time I was A. that your testimony here is under penalty of deposed was probably two to three months ago. 6 What was that in connection 6 perjury? Q. 7 7 A. Yes, I do. with? 8 8 Okay. And that means that if That was a litigation matter O. you lie or are intentionally misleading or involving two pharmaceutical companies. How about the time before that? 10 dishonest, you could be subject to penalties 10 O. 11 The time before that, probably 11 from the court. A. 12 Do you understand that? 12 four or five months before that. 13 MS. MCENROE: Objection to 13 O. So this is in the last -- that 14 both of these were in the last year? form. 14 15 15 That's correct. A. I understand that. A. BY MR. PIFKO: 16 16 O. You have three matters listed 17 Okay. Is there any reason why in your appendix. So the first one is the you're not able to provide truthful and antitrust litigation. Is that what -- when accurate testimony today? was the most -- was that the most recent? 19 20 20 No, there's no reason. MS. MCENROE: Counsel, are you A. 21 Are you taking any medications 21 able to give the witness what you're 22 or undergoing any treatment that would impair 22 looking at so we can all be looking at 23 23 your memory? the same page? 24 24 A. No. MR. PIFKO: We'll get there. Page 11 Page 13 I mean, if you have a copy of Okay. Is there any reason that you can think of why your deposition should the report, I can walk through and make sure 3 not proceed today? I'm with you. BY MR. PIFKO: 4 Α. No. 5 5 You listed three matters that Q. So I'm sure that counsel went 6 over the ground rules of the deposition you provided prior testimony in --7 before with you so we don't have to waste a A. So the -lot of time doing that, but if you have a 8 -- that's all I'm asking. Q. question, you don't understand something I Α. -- the first one say, please let me know. If not, I'll assume 10 chronologically is a Lamictal antitrust that you understand the question. Okay? 11 matter. 12 12 A. Perfect. I'll do that. The second one, I believe, or 13 And then just make sure you 13 the third one, is Momenta/Sandoz versus give audible responses because the court Amphastar. 15 reporter can't take down shrugs of the 15 And the one in between I can't shoulders and nods of the heads. And then recall without looking at the actual sheet. 16 16 17 17 don't say uh-huh or uh-uh, because on the And so which was the one that 18 written record, it looks the same. Okay? 18 you most recently testified in? 19 19 The most recent one was the A. Of course. Thank you. 20 Q. So have you been deposed Momenta/Sandoz/Amphastar, I believe, but it 21 21 before? would be --22 22 I have. Q. A. Okay. 23 How many times? 23 Q. A. -- helpful to look at the 24 A. Q.

MS. MCENROE: Objection to 24

Okay. And then the lay press

Page 54

- 1 is like if you write an opinion piece in a
- newspaper, magazine, or something like that?
- 3 Yeah, it could be -- so a lay
- press is really meaning not peer-reviewed. 4
- 5 For instance, if I wrote a
- piece in the Harvard Business Review, that
- wouldn't be peer-reviewed by other scholars.
- And so that's a -- I distinguish that kind of
- piece from an article of mine in the New
- England Journal of Medicine. And I've
- published in Harvard Business Review,
- Washington Post, New York Times, Wall Street 12
- 13 Journal, places like that.
- 14 Do you receive an income from writing those lay press articles? 15
- No, I don't receive any income 16
- 17 from that. They sometimes -- to be clear,
- the New York Times, for example, will -- if
- you write an op ed in the New York Times, I
- 20 think that they will pay you a couple hundred
- bucks if you request it. I usually don't
- because it's a lot of effort to go through
- their accounts processing system or whatever
- it's called, so I usually don't do that. But
  - Page 55
- that offer is there, and it varies across
- outlets. HBR, Harvard Business Review, for
- 3 example, doesn't pay. I know that.
- Okay. So things like the New 4
- York Times thing, it's just not worth the
- complication of what you have to jump through
- to get the money?
  - MS. MCENROE: Objection to
- 9 form.

- 10 Well, I don't know what -- not
- worth it. $200 is $200. That's a -- it's --
- 12 I've tried to do the thing before, and it
- doesn't work out. And so aside from many
- other things I've got to do, I end up not
- 15 getting paid.
- BY MR. PIFKO: 16
- 17 Q. Give me some leeway. I don't
- 18 know if I use all the right terminology here.
- 19 But if I want to ask, like, so you have --
- not every peer-reviewed article is about
  - original research. I mean, maybe you do like
- <sup>22</sup> a -- you know, maybe you -- what -- I guess
- what I'm -- I want to talk about data-driven
- research where you're collecting the data

- versus -- what's the term where you review a
- bunch of articles and then write a summary
- about that?

11

12

- MS. MCENROE: Objection to
  - form.
- BY MR. PIFKO:
  - Q. So do you do research where you
- are in a, you know, clinical trial or
- something where you're collecting original 10
  - data?
    - MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.
    - A. I do data-driven research, not
  - in a clinical trial setting. I analyze data.
- It's called observational data. So I use
- Medicare claims data, insurance claims data,
- other publicly available databases, and I
- answer questions based on that data. I've
- never conducted a randomized controlled
- 20 trial.

24

- 21 BY MR. PIFKO:
- 22 When you do the research O.
- 23 projects, are they funded by outside funding?
  - MS. MCENROE: Objection. Form.
    - Page 57
  - The research that I do, some of it is funded by NIH grants. Others of it is
- unfunded research, I just do it because, as
- part of my faculty appointment at Harvard,
- I'm -- you know, I'm paid to teach and do
- research, and so I just do research through
- my salary basically.
- BY MR. PIFKO:
- Okay. And what I'm trying to 10 get at is any of those research projects, are
- aspects of the research -- maybe you
- personally don't get a check, but is parts of
- the research funded by any private 13
- corporations outside of the university?
  - A. I see.
- 16 MS. MCENROE: Objection to 17

- 18 Α. So some of the -- some of the
- 19 papers on my CV and -- some of the papers on
  - my CV reflect projects where it would have
  - been a project that I did with Precision
- Health Economics, and that would have been
- often, but maybe not always, funded by an
- industry sponsor. And they are, you know,

13

14

21

- <sup>1</sup> very clearly -- often there's even industry
- authors that will -- it's a collaborative
- effort, we work with industry authors, we
- write a paper and disclose the funding as
- well. And some of the work in my CV reflects
- that kind of research.
- BY MR. PIFKO:
- 8 And the companies that have
- made those type of payments, we talked about 10 those already?
- 11 A. That's correct.
- 12 There's no other companies that O. 13 have provided that kind of funding that you can think of sitting here today? 14

15 MS. MCENROE: Objection to 16 form.

Α. There may be other companies, but I think that that's probably a pretty exhaustive list. I would defer to you to look through the papers and see if there's any other sources, but I think that that's 22 pretty accurate.

23 BY MR. PIFKO:

> O. Okay. Well, I'm just asking, because of my expertise. I have a PhD in economics, a medical degree, I see patients,

I write about economic issues in health care, and so my background lends itself very well to this kind of work.

So someone from Analysis Group made a cold call to you and asked if you wanted to be involved with them?

Someone in Analysis Group reached out to me through a mutual acquaintance.

Q. Okay. Do you remember their name?

A. Yes. Stephen Fink.

15 Q. He works at Analysis Group?

16 A.

17 O. Then I want to ask you, sorry, Precision Health Economics, do you have an 19 official position there? 20

A. What do you mean by "official position"?

22 O. Do you have a title being 23 affiliated with --

I think if you look at their

Page 59

we're in the deposition setting, that's all you can remember today? 3

A. That's correct.

Do you intend to continue doing Q. litigation consulting?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

8 I plan to continue to do it, but it depends on what other opportunities

10 come my way in terms of research and family obligations and things like that.

12 BY MR. PIFKO:

13 Let's talk about how you came to be retained in this matter, okay?

> Α. Sure.

When did you first -- well, O. actually, scratch that.

18 I want to ask you, how did you first come to be involved with Analysis 19 Group?

21 A. I started working with Analysis Group, I believe, sometime in 2018. I may have been approached by them either late -very late 2017 or early 2018, primarily website, they may say something like research affiliate or something like that. You know, it's probably pretty standard, just like I

Page 61

4 could be a fellow at some institution. I'm not like a VP of something or senior director. If that's what you mean by "title," then no. But there would be my name on a website, I'm assuming, plus something after it.

15

16

O. Okay. Right.

So what I was trying to get at is, do you view yourself as having any sort of formal employment, ongoing employment with Precision Health Economics?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

17 A. I view myself as being a consultant to them. So I can stop consulting with them today or tomorrow without any problem. I don't get any health benefits or anything like that from them, so they're not an employer at all the same way that

Harvard or Mass General is an employer of 24 mine. Page 62

- 1 Okay. So Stephen Fink reached O. 2 out to you from Analysis Group?
  - That's correct. Α.

- 4 And he knew someone else that Q. you knew? 5
  - A. That's correct.
- 7 Q. Who was that person there?
- 8 That's his wife. I knew -- his Α.
- 9 wife is a physician at Mass General. 10
  - O. What's her name?
  - Sarah Turbett, T-U-R-B-E-T-T. A.
  - So Stephen Fink reached out to Q. you and said, hey, would you like to start doing some litigation consulting through Analysis Group?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

18 A. Stephen Fink reached out and 19 said, are you -- have you ever done any litigation consulting work before, and I said no, I had not done litigation work before, I'd done other consulting. And I was curious about the types of work that happens in this space, which is obviously old news to you but this is an interesting line of work, the

- questions that are being asked are really
- important.

And I spend a lot of my time,

- for lack of better words, in data, in theory.
- Being able to be part of litigation allows me

- to take the stuff that I think about in a
- room where I'm working with a computer and
- writing papers and writing policy pieces to
- be able to translate into real life.

11 And so when I left that 12 meeting, I thought this is quite interesting. It's -- you know, I've never been involved in this kind of work before. I can see how the way I think about the world, the questions that I've asked, the answers that I've found in my research could be impactful in shaping how actual things happen in the real world. BY MR. PIFKO:

O. And then six months or so later he called you with a specific assignment?

I think the first -- the first assignment was what you see there, which was the antitrust matter. And my guess is that was news to me at that time, and I thought it 20

15

22

23

24 was an area where the set of skills that I've

- 3 developed and the expertise could actually be
- very helpful.
- BY MR. PIFKO:
- 6 And so did you meet with him in 7 person, or just talk on the phone at that 8 time?
- 9 I think we probably met in A. 10 person.
  - Then did he ask you to start Q. work on a specific project right away at that time?
  - A. No. It probably would have been months, maybe six, seven months before I actually did any work.
- 17 So you left that meeting 18 basically telling him, yeah, I'm interested in doing this kind of work, if you have 19 something that -- where someone needs my expertise, I'd be happy to be involved? 21

22 MS. MCENROE: Objection to 23 form.

24

Yeah, I left the meeting saying at the time Analysis Group was working with another law firm on this matter, and they were at the point of the work where they were trying to identify experts.

5 And I had told Steve -- I was like, Steve, I'm interested in this kind of work, things that are health care-related, things that rely on the economics of innovation, things that rely on issues of defining health care markets, things that rely on issues of physician behavior and prescribing and opioids. I've done a lot of work on opioids. This had not started at that point yet. Things of that nature I'd be interested in.

16 And so I suspect, although I 17 don't know the mechanics of what happened on their end, is that they put my name forth as an expert -- potential expert to the law firm, and sometime after that I was retained 21 in that matter.

- whether or not the product at issue was an

And then the second issue is looking at how patients' demand for the first product at issue relates to the prices of other products. If there's a cross-price elasticity, meaning a sensitivity of demand of the first product with respect to the other ones, that would suggest that there might be economic substitutes.

So that's what I was opining on, is there economic or clinical substitutability between an at-issue product and the other ones.

Okay. Did you find that there was economic substitutability for your clients' products?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to

Α. In that case I found that there are other treatment options that are supported by clinical guidelines for the treatment of this particular condition. BY MR. PIFKO:

But, Dr. Jena, I leave that to you in terms of whether you have a protective order obligation or not.

I think I can provide a 22 high-level analysis. I wish I remembered more of the details of the case.

But in this particular case obligations or a protective order, but

I leave that up to the witness.

That was a similar sort of case where I was approaching this question to define the market from a clinical perspective. This was a -- also a cardiovascular medication that was at issue here. And the question was whether or not that medication is the only medication that patients use for this particular condition, or do clinical guidelines assert five or six different medications.

And my finding there was that there's multiple different medications that physicians use.

BY MR. PIFKO:

Q. Okay. So similarly, there was substitutability for those -- your clients' product as well?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

That's correct. Another way to say it is that the product is not unique in any particular way.

forms.

- I don't know her detailed academic background. I believe she studied economics and is an undergraduate, may have an MBA or a master's degree, but I'm not entirely sure.
- O. Did you work with Ms. Kim on the matter?
- I worked with all these Α 13 individuals on the matter. Each person has different roles, and the roles vary over time, but I worked with each one of these individuals on the case. 16 17
  - What was Ms. Kim's role?
  - A. It's hard to say as of this period what her role was, but I can outline for you the general roles that I oversaw.

So one big thing is data cleaning, data preparation, data analysis.

The second big thing would be analyzing existing documents that have been

So, for instance, if you get a data set that's transaction-based and it says 1/7/2012, you and I would probably both interpret that to mean January 7, 2012. The next line might say 1-7-2012. In order to analyze data in a systematic way, we have to tell the computer program that both of those entries reflect January 7, 2012. The process of data cleaning is one in which an analyst would go through and write a program to create a data set that can be easily

That's an example of what data cleaning, or data processing is the other term you might hear.

Q. What type of data analysis did Ms. Kim do?

> MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

20 A. So in this particular case, the data analysis that were conducted -- and she was probably a part of some of this, but it's hard for me to know exactly what part. This is a report and a set of analysis that was produced in the litigation, looking at publicly available documents, looking at 3 publicly available data.

The third broad bucket would be in terms of helping drafting particular sections of the report under my direction. For instance, I might say, you know, I've written this paper on XYZ, could you please put that into the report, cite this study, and describe it in the following way. And they would pull the report, introduce it -- pull the study, introduce it into the record, so forth. So Ms. Kim, as well as including Mr. Fink, Mr. Kirson, and others that you'll see on subsequent invoices, would probably have all shared roles of those

When you say "data cleaning," O. what does that mean?

21 Data cleaning means the following; if you get a large data set, sometimes the data elements aren't as structured as they should be.

conducted over many months over many person 2 hours.

The core parts of the empirical analysis in my report reflect the ARCOS database, which is a transaction database. I focused on opioid distribution, looking particularly at Dr. McCann's report in which he identified a methodology for flagging potentially suspicious orders.

So I analyzed the database and said, look, there's five methodologies that Dr. McCann lays out, can we first replicate that methodology. That was the first task, can we replicate what Dr. McCann has done.

And then, secondly, now let me start and kind of unpack what is the validity of each one of these methodologies. And doing that requires working with the ARCOS data. And that's, I'm sure, what Ms. Kim and Mr. Fink and Mr. Kirson and Mr. Flignor and others had a part in as well.

So I was going to ask you, the ARCOS data that you examined, are you aware that there's publicly available ARCOS data,

- Q. Okay. Which ARCOS data did you review?
- A. The ARCOS -- there's two types of ARCOS data, actually, that I rely on in my report. The first is data that was produced in the case, and that expanded over time.
   Initially it was in these counties. It's actually national in nature.

The second is a form that was processed by expert McCann, Dr. McCann.

There, he had already processed some of the information. And in order to be consistent with his analysis and to ensure that his analysis was valid, I used the process data that Dr. McCann had used of the ARCOS data.

Q. You said one of the steps in the process that you used was replicating the analysis that Dr. McCann did. Was your team that name right?

- A. I believe so.
- Q. Okay. What's his full name?

Page 124

- A. I believe it's Max Flignor, but
- there's two Maxes, I think, that I've worked
- 6 with in this case, but...
- Q. Do you know what his backgroundis?
  - A. I believe an undergraduate degree, probably in economics or mathematics or statistics.
    - Q. Do you know from where?
    - A. I don't know from where, no.
      - O. What was his role?

A. He had -- he would have had a similar role as Ms. Kim. In general, as you go through the invoices, the analysts and senior analysts all have quite similar roles, analyzing data, culling through documents, synthesizing information, all under my direction.

Q. Let's go to -- a new name shows up in the July 27, 2018 invoice. Tell me when you're there. Page 3 of that invoice.

able to do that?

A. I was able to replicate quite closely his analysis. There's actually some issues in his analysis that I mention in the report.

For example, in one of his methodologies, which is a methodology for comparing the current pharmacy distribution to an average in the last several months, his methodology states that he uses the averages nationally. In fact, there's a coding error that I and my team uncovered. He actually only used the averages in the state -- the counties at issue here, Cuyahoga and Summit.

So, for the most part, I would say that I was able to replicate his analysis. That's not a -- that's not a statement of whether I think his analysis is valid. It could be replicated somewhat. But it's a separate issue of whether I think that analysis is correct. And I go to great lengths in the report to say that I don't think it is.

Q. Okay. Mr. Flignor -- did I say

Page 125

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Again, we can

- 13 O. Joe.

What does Joe do?

A. Joe has a very similar role to both Soojin and Mr. Flignor as an analyst or senior analyst, in this case he's an analyst, same types of tasks I just outlined.

- Q. Do you know what his background is?
- A. I believe also an undergraduate degree.
  - Q. You don't know in what?

So let me point you to the right page so you can see where I'm going to be talking to you from. So if you start at Page 4, it outlines the beginning of the Summary of Conclusions.

So basically there's four main conclusions.

The first conclusion is that Rite Aid, Mid-Atlantic as a distributor, in my opinion, had in place effective anti-diversion measures as a distributor. 22 That's the first opinion.

23 The second is, if you look at Dr. McCann's methodology, my view is this is 11 In terms of mechanics of your 12 report, I'm not trying to stop you 13 from responding, but I recognize that 14 there's a fine line there, so I ask 15 you not to divulge privileged a methodology for identifying suspicious orders, the methodology is flawed. And I'm happy to walk through why it is the case if vou'd like.

Third is from the perspective of whether or not there's any harm caused by diversion of opioids from Rite Aid pharmacies. I find no evidence of any harm arising from diversion of opioids from Rite Aid pharmacies.

And the fourth is that -- is an important point, that the plaintiffs' experts' reports don't characterize Rite Aid's role as a distributor in the way 15 that I think that we should be characterizing distributors and separating the role of 16 distributors from pharmacists, from 18 physicians. And the interplay of the opioid 19 epidemic that we're in right now is a complicated one, and it relies on many

21 different factors. 22 And the last part of my opinion is that we cannot ignore the role of prescribers in the epidemic. And there's a

Counsel has reviewed the report but did not write sentences or tell me to say one thing or the other.

Just to be very clear, the opinions in this report, these are my opinions. The direction that the report took, that was my direction. BY MR. PIFKO:

You said that if you became aware of additional information, you maybe would revisit your opinions. Did I hear you correctly?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

If there's any information that is brought to my attention that contradicts portions of my report, I suppose that I'd be willing to look at that and consider that. I have no intention at all of being involved in this case any further beyond this. If I'm asked to do something, an assignment, I will consider it at that time. But right now, what you have in front of you, this report, is my plan.

  - A. I'm done.
- Q. Okay. Can you tell me what Exhibit 5 is?

A. Sure. So Exhibit 5 reflects an analysis that I conducted which is called a falsification analysis. The idea behind a falsification analysis -- and I have a paper published on this in the Journal of Medical Research, which is MICV.

The basic idea behind the falsification analysis is to see whether some

Q. Other than the people at Analysis Group that we discussed, did you talk to anyone else about your report?

A. No.

Q. Did you talk about your report or your opinions with any other academic colleagues?

A. No.

Q. If you testify at trial, do you intend to provide any demonstrative exhibits?

MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

A. I would reserve the right to do that. Probably some of the exhibits, in my

of the patterns that Dr. McCann outlined as being -- as flagging -- let me use the word

<sup>3</sup> "potentially suspicious" because other plaintiffs' experts used the report in that way.

The question is whether or not the methodology that he uses for flagging orders is legitimate. One sign that the analysis would not be legitimate or valid scientifically is, if you can generate the same sorts of patterns using drugs that are not addictive, that don't cause harm in the way that opioids do, and that have no street value.

So if you're able to generate the same findings with non-opioid drugs, that should raise a red flag as to whether or not the primary methodology that you're using, in this case Dr. McCann, is valid. So Appendix E presents 80 plots that are basically store-by-store analyses of figures that are in the report.

And in the report, what I basically show is that the patterns that

13

14

- <sup>1</sup> Dr. McCann shows with opioids, that he and
- then other plaintiffs' experts suggest is
- illustrative of suspicious ordering,
- <sup>4</sup> suspicious distribution, those same patterns
- occur when you look at drugs like
- levothyroxine, that's a very common thyroid
- medication, metoprolol succinate, that's a
- beta blocker medication for heart disease,
- statins, cholesterol medications, amlodipine,
- which is a calcium channel blocker to treat
- hypertension, you see the exact same patterns
- 12 with these other drugs as you see with
- 13 opioids.

- So that to me is strong
- 15 evidence that whatever Dr. McCann is doing
- when he's trying to, quote/unquote, flag
- 17 orders in opioids one could very easily
- 18 replicate with other very standard drugs.
- 19 And, by the way, these drugs
- 20 are very standard. I chose these drugs
- because during this period, I think in 2006,
- they are the top three or four selling drugs
- in the market at the time. So these aren't
- cherry-picked in any way. Appendix E

- 1 Okay. Are there any O.

- including in your report?
- A. No. These were the products
- that were analyzed. The reason I chose them
- is because they were the top-selling drugs in
- the period at issue.
- Did you perform any other analysis of data that you didn't include in your report?

- basically takes the plots that are in the
- report and does it store by store.
- That's a long-winded way to
- describe what Appendix E is. 4
  - Okay. And did someone at
  - Analysis Group actually prepare these charts?
  - Someone at Analysis Group
- prepared these charts under my direction.
- And this was my idea, by the way. I publish
- on falsification tests, and so I said to the
- team, we've got to show this. In order to
- say that this methodology is not robust,
- meaning Dr. McCann's methodology, I want to
- be able to take the best academic evidence
- that there is and the best academic
- <sup>16</sup> approaches and look at it in this way. And
- this is just a very transparent way -- it's a
- 18 lengthy way, but it's a transparent way to
- 19 show that.
- 20 Are there any -- did you say Q.
- falsification tests? Is that what they're 21
- 22 called?
- 23 A. That's what they're called,
- 24 yes.

- and let me know when you're done. 2
  - Okay. I'm done. A.
- 3 O. Can you tell me what Exhibit 6
- 4 is?
  - Sure. Exhibit 6 reflects
- Appendix D, which is an appendix in my report
- which I just very briefly summarize
- plaintiffs' experts' reports mentioning Rite
  - Aid.

10 O. And what does Exhibit 6 tell me 11 about other reports?

> MS. MCENROE: Objection to form.

A. It does two things. First, it

- just gives you a very high-level summary of
- the expert assignment or opinion in each one
- of the reports. That's the third column.
- And then it identifies whether or not Rite 19
- Aid was mentioned in the report, either
- identified as a defendant, which is the
- third-to-last column, or included in the
- materials considered, which is the
- second-to-last column.

So those are the places in the report where I 21 rely most heavily on deposition testimony.

Looking at Exhibit 7, the first page, it's got depositions. Can you tell me which depositions that you personally

O. It's got -- the first two items are legal citations. Do you know what those 12 are?

I believe one of them refers to the Controlled Substances Act. I'd have to flip through my report for the other one.

Unfortunately, I'm not a legal scholar, so I don't even know what that little squiggly sign means.

Did you read the first one in Q. 20 its entirety?

So I believe that that refers to portions of the Controlled Substances Act. I haven't read the document in its entirety, but I did read the portions that are relevant

O. Okay.

3 And I'm also not a legal scholar, so my ability to interpret it in a legal way would be, not just limited, it would be zero.

Q. Okay. And then my question is how do you -- how did you determine which portions were relevant to your report?

10 It's very clear, actually, 11 because I wanted to look at two things. One 12 is what does the Act state with respect to the level of effective control that a distributor should have under the CSA; and then, secondly, what should be the expectations required to the monitoring and 17 evaluation of orders that might be of potentially unusual size or frequency or 19 pattern. 20

- Q. Okay. How specifically did you determine which sections were relevant to that?
- A. Those sections are pretty straightforward. This is a case -- or at

I don't know if that's a portion of the CSA or not. Again, I'm not a legal scholar, so this documentation is a little bit foreign to me. I point you to Page 3 of my report where I rely on this, and I say that this -- this law was requiring that distributors, quote/unquote, provide effective controls and procedures to guard against theft and diversion of controlled 11 substances.

My only point here is to say that there appears to be -- I'm not a lawyer, but there appears to be law about what distributors should be doing in terms of effective control and procedures to prevent diversion, not just of opioids but of controlled substances.

O. These other two documents, the third one, do you know what that is?

So this looks like -- I'm just going to read it here, and then I'll describe my understanding. The Second Supplemental Objectives (sic) and Answers to Plaintiffs' least my assignment was to look at whether or not Rite Aid as a distributor -- or one of

- the portions of my assignment was to look at
- 4 whether Rite Aid as a distributor had an
- effective program for anti-diversion, one
- component of which would be a suspicious
- ordering monitoring program. The language in
- the CSA simply states that that is something
- 9 that registrants should do.

So the portion of my report that relies to it is only this point right here, which is to say there's a regulatory policy that organizations should be doing this.

In my particular assignment, I was asked to evaluate how was Rite Aid doing it in this regard, along with other things in the assignment.

- 19 Okay. How about the second document listed in Other Court Documents, do 21 you see that?
  - A.
- 23 O. Okay. Do you know what that 24 is?

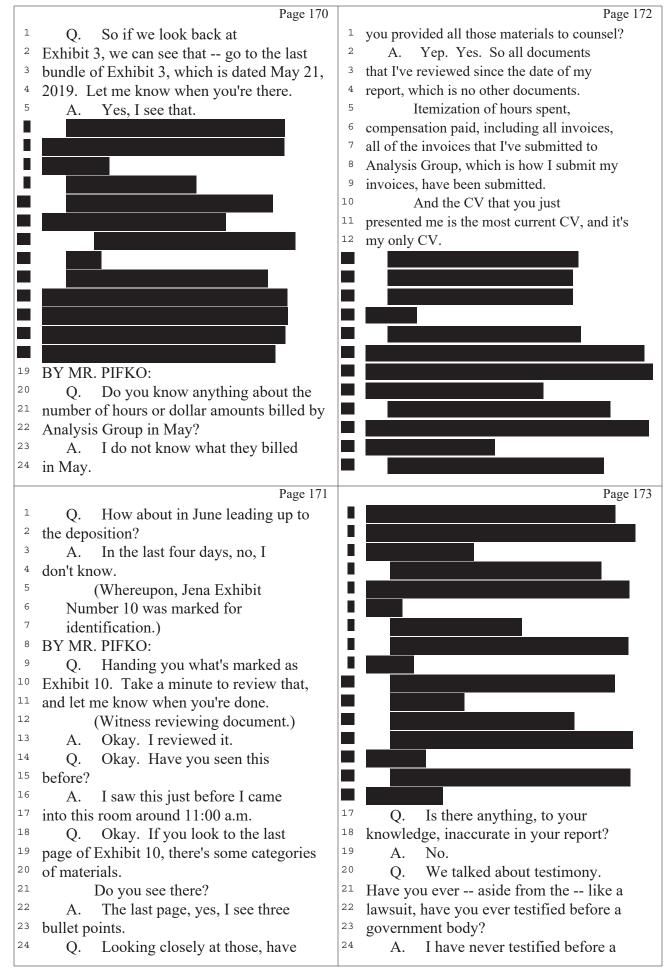

Page 165

- <sup>1</sup> First Set of Interrogatories. My -- again, I'm not a legal scholar. My understanding of
- this document, the way I relied on it is it
- provides a summary as well as answers by
- counsel representing Rite Aid which includes
- direct material from -- I'm going to use the
- word fact experts, not knowing better words,
- from Rite Aid to describe various things that
  - it had in place.

So, for instance, in my own report, primarily in Section 4 of the report, I refer to specific Rite Aid employees who describe what are the processes that were in place. And a lot of that information is in this Second Supplemental Objections and Answers, for example, an auto-replenishment system, thresholds for distributing opioids, if you exceed it then you don't get the opioids, the system of putting opioids and other controlled substances in locked cages, etcetera.

- How about the last item, do you O. 23 know what that is?
  - This one I don't recall.
